1 Research Notebook: Development of SAC Reinforcement Learning Model for Stock Trading

1.1 Team Members:

1.2 Notebook Introduction

This Jupyter notebook serves as a detailed documentation and workspace for our research and development process in creating a Soft Actor-Critic (SAC) reinforcement learning model tailored for stock trading. The notebook is structured to guide through the various stages of model development, from data handling to final evaluation.

1.3 Notebook Objectives

1. Dataset Handling and Preparation: To detail the process of acquiring, cleaning, and preparing the stock price data for model training.
2. Feature Engineering: To explore and define the set of features that will be used by the SAC model, enhancing its ability to make informed trading decisions.
3. Model Development: To document the iterative process of designing, training, and tuning the SAC model.
4. Evaluation and Testing: To assess the model's performance using historical data, focusing on its ability to make profitable trading decisions.

1.4 Dataset

First Rate Data: <https://firstratedata.com/cb/4/complete-stocks-etf>

Volume: 262GB

Unique Tickers: 10120 ~7k Stocks + ~3k ETFs

1.4.1 Data Engineering

- Overview of the data source and its characteristics.

- Steps taken for data cleaning and preprocessing.
- Strategies for data storage and retrieval.

1.4.2 Feature Engineering

- Identification and justification of chosen features for the model.
- Detailed explanation of the feature engineering process.
- Analysis of the impact of these features on the model's performance.

1.4.3 Model Development

- Detailed description of the SAC algorithm and its suitability for stock trading.
- Architecture of the Actor and Critic networks within the SAC framework.
- Hyperparameter selection and optimization process.

1.4.4 Training Process

- Methodology for training the SAC model using the prepared dataset.
- Techniques employed for improving model performance and avoiding overfitting.
- Continuous evaluation during the training phase.

1.4.5 Model Evaluation and Testing

- Criteria and metrics for model evaluation, including profitability and Sharpe Ratio.
- Testing process using the validation and test datasets.
- Comparison of model performance against traditional trading strategies.
